

Female enemy aliens as well as males are being interned in the Quebec concentration camp, families being kept together. It really begins to look as though the end of the war would see the foundations of an Austrian colony well established at Spirit Lake.