

AUSTRIANS ORGANIZING REVOLT AGAINST U.S.?

Astonishing Revelation of Pro- posed Activity to Stop the Munitions Manufacture

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

London, July 19.—The Morning Post Budapest correspondent says the Austro-Hungarian Government contemplates following up its note to the American Government with a scheme for the mobilization of American Austrians and Hungarians, of whom there are six millions in the United States, so as to interfere with the manufacture of war materials.

The despatch quotes a member of a club, of which Count Tisza, the Hungarian Premier, is a member, as saying:

"It is a great mistake on the part of America to believe that we are utterly powerless, for if worst comes to worst we have more than 15,000,000 men, mostly in the eastern States—Germans, Austrians and Hungarians—who are ready to menace the business of munition manufacturers."

It is not quite clear what this means, the despatch continues, unless it refers to the bombs and revolver of J. Pierpont Morgan's assailant, Muentzer, who is feted in Vienna and Munich as a German martyr.

There are 3,000 Hungarian societies in America which can create trouble and foment strikes, but for such an undertaking some central organizing body is necessary, and the American authorities may have something to say on that subject. Underground agitation, on the other hand, would be of very little use, though there are many thousands of Hungarians employed in the factories of America that are turning out war materials for England and the allies. Though agents of German organizations are doing their best to impress them with their ideas, these people pay little or no attention to them.
