

THE CHERNIYAVSKYS.

Played Before The Uncle Of The Czar.

A few interesting things were learned from an interview with Leo Cherniavsky. The London Standard said: "Our visitors have played before the uncle of the Czar, the Grand Duke Peter Nivolaewich, at his Palace in Livadia." The Cherniavskys are full of fascinating stories of their struggle in Europe, especially in Russia. The recent news from the front concerning the wounding of Gregor Cherniavsky has elicited the fact that Leopold Auer, the teacher of Gregor Cherniavsky, also the principal of the Russian Imperial Conservatoire, considers Gregor Cherniavsky the most finished violinist in the world. After the war it is more than likely that Gregor will succeed Auer as principal of the most wonderful musical conservatoire in the world. He is the eldest brother in the Cherniavsky family and at one time taught Leo Cherniavsky. These great artists appear here to-morrow, Tuesday, Nov. 9th and there is every indication of a packed house.
