

William Rasko, a German prisoner released on parole from Fort Henry, Kingston, states that many of the prisoners have knives concealed, and one prisoner, John Schmidt, threatens to murder United States Consul F. S. S. Johnson, of Kingston.