

Since Saturday sixty Austrians have come into the city from the west. They report that work is very scarce out there, and they have come here in the hope of getting bigger wages.