

BORE HOLES IN SHELLS

Man and Son Arrested for Tampering With Munitions
At Hamilton

TORONTO, Nov. 3—A man named Nylin and his son were arrested in Hamilton on the charge of having tampered with shells in a munition factory by boring holes in shells, making them exceedingly dangerous. The father was the superintendent of the factory, and they are now held as alien enemies. Under no consideration were they allowed bail.