

LABOR MEN CENSURE COUNCIL'S ALIEN VOTE.

Say it is un-British—Labels Demanded for Delegates to London.

The seventeen members of the City Council who on Monday last voted to disfranchise alien enemy electors, were roundly denounced in a resolution passed last night by the Toronto District Trades and Labor Council on the ground that it was an injustice and detrimental to the stand of the Labor interests for a full measure of justice to all. The decision was unanimous.

Delegate Jas. Simpson, who moved the Labor Council's resolution, declared that the City Council's resolution was contrary to the spirit of the Labor movement. He was glad to state that a member of the Council, a descendant of an alien enemy, had been privileged to impart to the City Council before the resolution was endorsed the principles of British justice.

Delegate Pauline, who stated that he was neither a German nor an Austrian, but a life-long citizen of foreign descent of Toronto who would suffer if the Dominion Government endorsed such a measure, believed the City Council were exceeding their powers when they attempted to interfere with questions which bordered on the side of politics.

Demand Union Labels.

The report of the Executive, which refused to state the number of delegates to represent the local Labor Council at the annual conference of the Labor Educational Association at London on May 24, was productive of a stirring debate. Delegate Joseph T. Marks announced that every member who attended the conference would have to have at least three union labels on his wearing apparel. An Examining Committee had been appointed, and if a delegate lacked the required number of labels he would not be permitted to take part in the conference. Messrs. T. A. Stevenson, Joseph T. Marks and James Simpson were chosen to represent the Council at the conference.
