

Failed to Register—Fred Thiele, an Austrian, pleaded guilty before Magistrate Shaw to failing to observe the provisions of the Alien Enemy Act by calling at police headquarters to register. Sergeant Geo. Hood informed the court that Thiele had called for several months and registered and had then left the city and had ignored the law. Thiele said he had been at an up-country point and had been unable to call at police headquarters but the court was informed that Thiele could have registered with the constable at the place at which he was living, or else could have forwarded his papers to police headquarters. He was remanded until Tuesday for sentence.
