

Interned a Young Austrian.

John Rybak was given the choice of hopping into the King's uniform or being interned. His papers showed he was 20 years of age, but he claimed he was only 19, born in Austria, of parents since naturalized in Canada. As he did not appear exceptionally anxious to go to the Armories, Magistrate Kingsford ordered his internment, remarking "We'll stand no nonsense here."