

TWO OF MACLEOD'S SOLDIERS RETURN

Macleod, June 12.—Mrs. John Black, whose four sons are soldiers and have all been in France, three having been wounded, the youngest seriously in the Paschendale, where his arm and shoulder were broken with shrapnel. After the operations the iron was removed and he is now able to use his hand, but cannot raise his arm to a level with his shoulder, but with continued massage and electrical treatment he may regain the complete use of his hand and arm. This boy, Mac, returned Thursday, and will remain for a short leave and then report at Ogden home. Mac tells some stories of the usage given our boys by the hated Hun, and hopes to be able to return and get some more Hun game. 3½ years were spent in the army machine gun section and six months of that time in the hospital.

Another Back.

Pte. E. C. Wilson, of Macleod, one of the first to enlist, returned last week, maimed in the right knee with shrapnel secured in the famous Vimy Ridge, April, 1917. He speaks very highly of the hospitals and nurses in France and England.

Registration day, or rather week. In Macleod was a busy one for the ladies who had charge of it. Their work during the week was at the public school during the evenings which relieved the amount to be done on the last day, Saturday, when they finished up at 11 p.m. It is notable that only one alien was registered. Reports from several school houses received are that many were registered and the day passed quietly.

The Ladies' Aid of the Presbyterian Church held a very successful tea during the afternoon while the Aviation Club served meals and had a successful tag day.

New York State's anticipated crop of winter wheat is 7,500,000 bushels.
